RAS SEYMUN, WITH A FORCE OF 2,000, THREATENS ATTACK ON THE ITALIANS; BUT THEY ARE STRONGLY INTRENCHED

Planes Constantly Dropping Small Bombs Over the Area Occupied by Ethiopian Forces — Machine-Gun Fire From the Air — Several Italians Wounded in the Raid

By Floyd Gibbons
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent

ADOWA, ETHIOPIA, Oct. 11.—Ras Seymun, Ethiopian commander with forces numbering 2,000, is occupying the impregnable mountains south of this place and threatening a counter attack, but the Italian forces here are strongly intrenched with a far-reaching circle of outlying defense position capable of taking care of any eventuality.

Reconnaissance planes are constantly over the area occupied by the Ethiopian forces dropping small bombs and under orders, are flying close to the ground, firing machine guns from the air when over concentrations are sighted. Ras Seymun is sending small sniping parties to both lines of Italian communications. Several Italians were wounded in these raids with few casualties.

The Italians are now occupying 2,000 square miles of Ethiopian territory, a strip approximately 20 miles across a region 60 miles wide.

ADOWA, ETHIOPIA (By Courier to Asmara, Eritrea, Where Filed at 8 P. M.) Oct. 9.—(INS)—I am happy to report that comparative peace reigns on the Italian-Ethiopian fronts.

The Italians are now occupying about 2,000 square miles of Ethiopian territory—a strip approximately 20 miles deep across a region 60 miles wide.

They are contemplating no immediate advance farther south in the direction of Addis Ababa, which is still 400 miles south, beyond even higher mountains and terrain even more desolate and difficult than that which the Italians have already encountered.

Airplane reconnaissance today revealed only scattered groups of Ethiopians in view south of Adowa and Adigrat, totaling about 2,000.

These groups are made up of irregulars, and are not sufficiently strong to counter-attack the Italian positions. But they will undoubtedly pursue guerilla tactics, sniping troops and interfering with Italian lines of communication.

The Italian intelligence section has located the next Ethiopian concentration in force on a line between Gondar, which is 150 miles southwest of Adowa, and Tagadde, which is eight miles south of Gondar, just above Lake Tsana.

Obviously, the belligerent forces are completely out of touch with one another, and I am glad also to report that I see no prospects of a major clash between them for at least a month.

The Italians are now busy consolidating the ground already gained, strengthening defenses, widening and building roads, digging wells to in-

Mr. Straus is proud of the advancement he has made, since coming to Bristol in 1919, when he opened a small store on Pond street. With a steady increase in business he was forced to seek larger premises, going to 417 Mill street, where he remained for a number of years.

Despite the depression Mr. Straus moved again into his present store, a much larger establishment, where he and his two sons Paul and Walter, are kept busy improving their business to meet the demands of their many patrons.

TELLS PERKASIE ABOUT PLANS FOR A PARK

Believed Development of The Recently-Purchased Tract Will Cost $122,000

HOW IT IS TO BE DONE

PERKASIE, Oct. 11.—Detailed plans for the proposed development of this borough's recreation center, which includes 30 acres recently purchased from the Menlo Park Company were presented at the monthly meeting of Borough Council. These plans were submitted by Robert A. Benner, chairman of the Perkasia Park Commission, and prepared by a Pennsburg engineer with the assistance of local persons.

Plans for the work, it was announced at the meeting, have been approved by the W. P. A., and at the meeting Council adopted a resolution, approving the plans and obligating itself to pay the cost of the material and hire of trucks and teams.

It is believed the entire project will be completed at a cost approximating $122,000, of which Perkasia will be asked to pay less than five per cent., or approximately $4300.

While the borough will be asked to furnish trucks and dump wagons for hauling the material, the drivers will be paid through the W. P. A.

Chairman Benner stated before Council that he is of the opinion that the borough's share of the work can be cut to an amount much less than $4300. County Commissioners, he said, have on hand a number of wheelbarrows which can be hired, and this will eliminate the necessity of purchasing them for the work here. In addition to this, said Mr. Benner, the estimates on the hire of teams and trucks are quite high, and he believes they can be procured for a much lower figure. The chairman of the Park Commission is of the opinion that the entire project will cost the borough no more than $2500.

Council was informed by Mr. Benner that if the project is approved in Washington, the work will be carried through to completion regardless of the time required. He explained also that persons now receiving relief will be given preference, but it is probable some unemployed men not on relief will be given an opportunity to work on the project.

Mr. Benner explained to Council some of the things which are proposed for the new recreation center. The north branch of the Perkiomen creek will be dredged. The minimum depth at the north end will be two feet and at the south end four feet. Earth removed from the creek will be used as fill for the lower section of the tract. A driveway running parallel with the creek is also included in the plans. This will connect with a similar thoroughfare which will be constructed by the Sellersville Park Commission.

Foot paths through the tract and small rustic bridges across the small gullies will also be constructed. About 300 dead trees will be removed and those which will not be removed will be trimmed. Hundreds of saplings will also come in for their share of trimming.

Find Letter 20 Years Old

(By "The Stroller")

Twenty years after a letter was written to a resident of Bucks County, it was found between the pages of one of Dickens' works on the shelves of a book store in Philadelphia.

The letter was addressed to a Miss Birkey, teacher at the Newportville school in 1915. It was found just a few days ago by a Bristol resident, as he stood in a Philadelphia book store, thumbing the leaves of a book. The letter complained about the teacher's marking given to a certain pupil.

OUR AMERICAN CLERGY

(New York American, October 3, 1935)

President Roosevelt has been told by a non-partisan, non-governmental and unbiased body of men — the American clergy—just what it thinks of his whole Socialistic, anti-constitutional program.

The President himself said in his letter to the reverend gentlemen:

"No group can give more accurate or unbiased views."

It will be noted that almost all of those who indorsed the Roosevelt policies did so evasively, rhetorically or half-heartedly.

But from ALL denominations came a blast of NOES that must have jarred Mr. Roosevelt and the dangerous visionaries who surround him to the quick of their complacency.

The Rev. Dr. David M. Steele, of Philadelphia, said:

"It is STRIKING BELOW THE BELT AND PLAYING POLITICS on the low plane with which you have made us all familiar."

"My counsel is that you stay away from Washington as long as possible."

Rabbi Louis L. Mann, of Chicago, who is also a member of the Faculty of the University of Chicago:

"I shall express the hope that the Administration should speak in no uncertain terms about its LOYALTY TO THE CONSTITUTION and its REVERENCE FOR THE SUPREME COURT. These should never be made the football of politics."

The Rev. A. Z. Conrad, of Washington, said:

"THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILL NOT TAKE TO REGIMENTATION. The animus of the Administration toward holding companies and public utilities retards recovery."

The Rev. Julian C. McPheters, of San Francisco:

"I will suggest that President Roosevelt remain TRUE TO THE CONSTITUTION."

The Rev. G. Phillips Payson, of Westchester, N. Y.:

"I do not approve of the thing. It does not seem to be the right thing WITHOUT EXPLAINING THE MOTIVES BEHIND IT."

In the above answers the Jewish, Protestant and Catholic churches are represented.

It is easy to see why even the churches—generally non-partisan—have taken a stand against the extravagances of the "New Deal."

It is because the "New Deal" is DISHONEST, CONFISCATORY, and is a thrust at the very document on which these churches and their clergymen base their freedom of speech and thought—THE CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution guarantees liberty to the creeds.

The first wedges to undermine the Constitution have been driven by this Administration.

If an amendment can be steam-rolled through—as was the Eighteenth Amendment—which will destroy the Supreme Court and all State rights, WHAT GUARANTEES HAVE THE CLERGY AND THE AMERICAN PEOPLE THAT ARTICLE I OF THE BILL OF RIGHTS WILL NOT BE DESTROYED?

NEEDLEWORK GUILD HAS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Bristol Branch Appeals For Gifts in Celebration of The Organization's Birthday

IT HELPS THE NEEDY

The Needlework Guild of America is 50 years old. From a group of seven young girls it has become a great national organization with more than a million members. As part of its Golden Jubilee celebration, it cordially invites you to join what has often been called "The Organization of Understanding Heart."

The donation, once a year, of two new garments (for men, women or children), household linen, or a sum of money constitutes membership.

"If you are a member, communicate with your director, telling her how many new members you will secure as a birthday present for the Guild. If you are not enrolled, please consider this a personal invitation to join. Get in touch with Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, president of the Bristol Branch, who will gladly give full information about the Needlework Guild of America, whose mission is to keep alive a kindly way of permitting those who have, to help others who have not," reads a statement issued today by the Bristol Branch.

"For its anniversary gift, the Needlework Guild seeks only a golden harvest of increased opportunity. Do join us at once."

"National Membership week is October 6th to 13th, inclusive." The annual exhibition of the Bristol Branch will be held at the Community House, Thursday, November 7th, at 2 p. m. Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., president of the Fort Washington Branch will be the speaker.

All members are urged to send their garments to their directors as promptly as possible, and to make their offerings as generous as it is possible for them to do in order that the exhibition in this golden jubilee year will be an outstanding one.

Special Rally Day exercises will be held in Emilie M. E. Church, Sunday evening, October 13th, at 7.30.

MIDDLETOWN GRANGE HOLDS OFFICERS' NIGHT

Interesting Session Takes Place At Home of Dr. H. C. Terry

DEBATE MAIN FEATURE

LANGHORNE, Oct. 11.—Officers' Night was celebrated at a fairly well attended meeting of the Middletown Grange held Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Terry, here. A majority of the officers were in attendance and they presented the program.

As master of the Grange, Dr. Terry briefly welcomed the members to his home and read a poem, "The Neighbor Around the Corner."

A very brief business session was held, and during that time Mrs. May Newbold, chairman of the home economics committee submitted a brief report in reference to the committee's plans for the coming winter.

The National Grange proposes to purchase the homestead of Oliver Kelly, one of the founders of the Grange. This home is located near Minneapolis, and it is proposed to raise money for the purchase of this homestead through the various subordinate Granges throughout the country. During the meeting a letter which told of the proposition of the National Grange was read. During the business session it was decided to hold a bake sale in the near future.

Frank Thompson, the treasurer, and Edwin Ridge, the chaplain, contributed their part to the program by taking part in a debate, the subject of which was "Which is More Important, the Button or the Buttonhole?" This proved to be quite humorous.

The three graces, Mrs. Hugh Webster, Mrs. Jacob Hibbs and Miss Hannah Hibbs, had been asked to assume charge of a contest, but in the absence of Mrs. Hibbs and Miss Hibbs this feature was conducted by Mrs. Webster. Losers in this contest will be called upon to assume charge of program at the next meeting of the Grange in the Friends' school house, here, on October 23rd. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Jewish Festival of Sukkoth Will Begin This Evening

The Jewish Festival of Sukkoth—the Feast of Tabernacles—will begin this evening, and last until October 19th. In Biblical days this holiday was an important festival of the Jewish calendar, together with the Feast of Weeks and Passover. On these three joyous occasions the Jews of Palestine were required to make pilgrimages to the Temple of Jerusalem. The Feast of Tabernacles, however, is distinguished from its sister festivals in both its purpose and celebration.

In the Bible the festival is also called the "Feast of Ingathering," for at the time when the Jews dwelt in Palestine and were tillers of the soil the character of the holiday was agricultural. Coming as it does at the close of the agricultural and economic year in Palestine, the Feast of Tabernacles was distinctively an occasion of thanksgiving for the fruit harvest and for nature's bounty during the year that passed. The people gathered in the precincts of the Temple, offered sacrifices on each of the seven days of the festival to symbolize the reconciliation of all nations with God.

MORRISVILLE C. OF C. TO MAKE DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Will Hear Speaker On The Subject on Evening of November 12th

ALL ARE URGED TO JOIN

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 11.—Members of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held in the Community House discussed the holding of a membership drive for the purpose of getting more men interested in the organization. An effort will be made to have Lewis W. Link, of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, address the next meeting, which will be held November 12th. Mr. Link was head of the membership drive successfully conducted by the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Link will be asked to tell the Morrisville members how it was done.

An effort will be made to have every member of the organization attend this next meeting. An invitation will also be extended to many men who are not members and a committee consisting of Charles H. Heller, George W. Burgher and William Hoheweller will compile a list of names of prospective members.

Refreshments will be served at this next meeting and a committee consisting of Harry M. Lair, George Wilbur and James Gallagher will have charge of this part of the program.

A resolution on the death of Lewis A. Howell, a charter member and a director of the Chamber of Commerce, was passed, and a copy will be spread on the minutes and copy sent to the family. Edgar T. Snipes, president of the body, and Secretary Frank L. Muschert, spoke on Mr. Howell's faithful attendance and service to the organization.

The matter of Trenton concerns discriminating against Morrisville residents when they apply for work was discussed but no formal action was taken.

A. T. Lynch, president of Common Council, spoke on the various projects the borough is endeavoring to have done with the aid of federal funds. A number have been submitted, Mr. Lynch stated, but the only one approved is that of the water plant. There are several other projects pending which, if approved, would give employment to many Morrisville men.

Firemen Burned By Gasoline From Tank

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 11.—(INS)—Four members of suburban fire companies were in critical condition in West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital here today from burns suffered when a blazing gasoline motor truck exploded on the Black Horse Pike as they attempted to quell the flames.

The men, George Clark, 40; Chief Leonard Staff, 50; and George Canady, 25, all of West Collingswood Heights Fire Department; and William Finnegan, 48, Mt. Ephraim fire chief, were hurried by the blast into a branch of Little Timber Creek near the scene of the accident. Other firemen pulled them unconscious from the water.

The explosion occurred after the truck collided with an automobile on the highway and overturned. Traffic was halted for more than two hours as men from four companies fought the flames. Edward Donnelly of West Collingswood, driver of the truck, and the motorist escaped injury.

Refuses Bus Permit

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—The Public Service Commission today had refused to rescind an order cancelling the Certificate of Public Convenience held by the Delaware River Coach Company of Bristol. The cancellation order was issued August 1st, after the company had been cited to show why its certification should not be lifted because of the alleged unsafe and inadequate condition of its equipment.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP IN THE LAST MONTH

Much Enthusiasm Expressed at the Meeting Held at Langhorne Yesterday

CANDIDATES S P E A K

Miss Eleanor D. Worthington Is Given An Enthusiastic Reception

(Special to Courier)

LANGHORNE, Oct. 11.—With 163 new members added during the last few weeks, the annual meeting of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women was held yesterday at the Country Club, here. More than 250 women from the southern and central sections of Bucks County crowded the auditorium of the club house for the morning and afternoon sessions, when they pledged united support for the entire Republican ticket at the November election, in addition to a pledge for active work during the next month in order to get out the majority of the thousands of voters, who are not enrolled.

Mrs. John C. Cooper, Pineville, president of the council, presided at both sessions. She welcomed the members and their friends and announced the membership close to 400 women in the council this year.

Representative Wilson L. Yeakel, Perkasia, speaker at the morning session, discussed state legislation and Mrs. J. Harry Hoffman, Doylestown, chairman of the legislative committee, discussed national legislative acts.

Mrs. Minerva F. Martin, Doylestown, candidate for Director of the Poor, and chairman of the membership campaign, conducted by the Council during the last month, informed at the afternoon session of the 168 new members. She also awarded the $5.00 cash prize to Mrs. Stewart M. Hartzel, Chalfont, for securing the most new members, 18 in her home town.

Mrs. Martin announced that before next Saturday, the membership of the Bucks County Council, will quite likely have been doubled, and the report will be sent to the state headquarters.

Bucks County's first woman candidate for a major county office, on either ticket, Miss Eleanor D. Worthington of Hartsville, was given a very complimentary introduction by the presiding officer and an enthusiastic reception by the members of the Council, after she had spoken. She is a candidate for the Office of Clerk of Orphans' Court.

Miss Worthington graciously thanked the women of Bucks County for the fine support they gave her candidacy in the September primaries.

"I hope that we can look for a big majority in November," Miss Worthington said. "I am very proud to be the first woman in Bucks County to be a candidate for a major county office. I can assure you that I will not only work diligently, to get out the vote in November, but will serve my county to the best of my ability, if elected."

Mrs. Minerva F. Martin, Director of the Poor candidate, was also introduced by the chairman, following Miss Worthington's presentation. Mrs. Martin is a candidate for re-election.

"My record of the last four years in the office of Director of the Poor, stands and it speaks for itself," said Mrs. Martin. "I appreciate your fine co-operation and spirit and ask you to again show that fine spirit at the polls next month."

State Senator Clarence J. Buckman, of Langhorne, who fought the wild and impracticable bulk of legislation in Harrisburg during the recent session, was the first afternoon speaker.

"The Bucks County Council of Republican Women has always been very kind to me, and judging from the enthusiasm being shown here today, we are going to hear from the Council during the next month," Senator Buckman declared.

Senator Buckman stated he felt we are now facing the reaction of the Democratic victory in the state and nation. "If we like the Democratic administration in Harrisburg and in the nation, then it would be wise I suppose to clean out the Bucks County Court House, as the Democrats advocate," the Senator continued.

"If you approve of dumping 800 unemployed Philadelphians into Bucks County, as they have been doing daily since Monday, to 'build at' roads, while we have thousands of individuals on relief, then go ahead and vote the Democratic ticket in November."

"In the 26 years of service in the Legislature, I have never seen such a spectacle like I witnessed in Harrisburg during the recent session. Taxation bills were about all that were passed. Anything that had Governor Earle's label on it, passed the House and most of the time the Senate. He sought to put on the shoulders of Pennsylvania residents an additional $203,000,000 tax burden, but failed because of the small Republican majority in the Senate."

Various taxes passed, and those that were defeated by the Republican majority, were outlined briefly by Senator Buckman. "Every time you buy a package of cigarettes in Pennsylvania you give Mr. Roosevelt 6c

RICHBERG'S ADMISSION

Industrial chaos and two millions more added to the relief rolls—thus was the dire prophecy by Donald R. Richberg last May of what the death of NRA would bring. The supreme court had not yet spoken, but the then pending extender bill was driving toward the shoals of congressional inaction—and Mr. Richberg, who had taken over the helm, was fearful of foundering.

Appearing now for a brief moment since he retired from the Washington stage to resume the private practice of law, Mr. Richberg admits he was all wrong. In the face of overwhelming evidence he could not do less. As for his excuses why the forecast went awry, they exhibit a very natural human trait, but may be regarded as merely extraneous.

Imagination frames events unknown

In wild fantastic shapes of hideous ruin.

The incident serves to show the fallacy of fearfulness as a guide or as justification for fleeing into untried paths.

"IT CAN BE DONE"

The president's new motto, as recently announced in an address by the executive, is "It Can Be Done." Concerning what can be done, and what can't be done, we are not precisely certain; a reader has suggested applying the affirmative motto to the following objectives:

1. Balancing of the budget, as promised in pre-election speeches.
2. Reduction of 25 per cent. in cost of government, as promised in pre-election speeches.
3. Upholding the constitution of the United States, as sworn to at the time he was inaugurated.

And if these things "can be done" it is our suggestion to the president that he do 'em.

HOLLYWOOD—Hope revives for the "Opera Versus Jazz" picture with Bing Crosby and Gladys Swarthout. The studio is talking the story up again, and, from certain signs, Bing may be getting ready to reconsider his veto. Else, why have he and Swarthout been recording numbers together? Strictly on the Q. T., they have done duets on "Thunder Over the Hills" and "Home on the Range," a typical Crosby number. The wax recordings are for the ears of the studio bosses and the two stars—the idea being to convince Crosby that he can sing against an operatic voice and not suffer too badly by comparison. Commercial record makers could cash in plenty on these two numbers, but they'll never be released, for the two stars are under contract to different outfits. For records, I mean.

If it isn't love, then riddle me this. When Cecilia Parker and Eric Linden finished on "Ah Wilderness," they were caught without means of getting home. Cecilia borrowed Phil Henry's car and offered to drive Linden to Hollywood. It seemed a swell idea until Henry has been a rival and Eric refused to ride in his car. When last heard from, the poor guy was walking to Hollywood.

Tony Lanier, one of the prettiest in "The Great Ziegfeld," is so happy. Casey Lambert, of the Listerine millions, flew all the way out here just to see her.

What English actor, recently split from his wife, is taking it pretty hard? He's in financial difficulties, too, not even able to keep his small car registered in his own name.

After ribbing each other through advertisements in the trade papers, Jack Benny and Eddie Cantor have finally settled that $100 wager on the Baer-Louis fight. The affair came to a head on the Cantor set, and to the tune of hysterics. Through the aid of Director Norman Taurog, Benny got on the set as an extra wearing a beard. Every time Cantor would do a piece of business for the camera, Benny would give him a Bronx cheer. In the nick of time to prevent hostilities, he whisked off the chin-crepe and produced the amount of the lost wager. A minute later, the laugh turned again when Taurog informed Benny that he'd been in several shots and would have to work the rest of the afternoon. They kept him three hours.

You Asked Me and I'm Telling You! Celia Kramer, the Bronx: The melody Katharine Hepburn played in "Break of Hearts" was "Forever Or Never." It was specially composed for the picture by Max Steiner, R-K-O musical director. The reason you can't buy it is that it was never published. But dozens, curious like yourself, have written the studio asking the title.

Pity the movie child. Seven-year-old Cora Sue Collins is working in "Mary Burns, Fugitive" and earning a good salary. But her mother had to withdraw her from the public schools. Fellow pupils stared so much at the child star, asked her so many questions that she couldn't learn her lessons.

SYNOPSIS

Five days before his marriage date, socially prominent Sharlene Standing's fiancé, Kent Damerell, millionaire sportsman, is called to New York to the deathbed of Cora Manning, a former love. Cora shot herself upon learning of his engagement. Kent grants Cora's dying request that he marry her. But after the ceremony, she rallies. Kent tries in vain to suppress the newspaper stories. He then telephones Sharlene. Her mother takes the message. Though it is a terrific blow, Sharlene takes the news stoically. To offset the publicity of her jilting, Sharlene asks her best friend, Stuart Pennington—struggling young artist, who has loved her for years—to marry her. Though it is the realization of his dream, Stuart knows her proposal is a mere reaction to hurt pride. Enroute to Yuma, Arizona, for the ceremony, he wonders if he would not be wiser for Sharlene to wait until Damerell were free. She insists on going through with the marriage. After the ceremony, the young couple fly to the Grand Canyon. . . . Julie Devore, Stuart's model, who loves the young artist, is stunned at the news of his marriage.

CHAPTER XV

Julie threw herself full length on the floor and screamed and sobbed. Tantrums!!! When the violence of the storm finally wore off, she sat up dazedly. Her face was swollen and queerly streaked with black rivers running from her eyes down carefully powdered, tinted cheeks, to mix with the lip rouge which had been smeared from her mouth in distorted lines over her chin. She resembled a clown who had been out in the rain.

After a while she pulled the paper over and read every word of the story, even the re-hashing on the back pages of Sharlene's fairy-princess life. The story also featured an account of Kent Damerell marrying a woman in the East. . . . Suddenly Julie's dulled mind recovered its acumen. So, Sharlene Standing had been ditched cold! That's why she had come smirking up to the house yesterday afternoon! She came to grab off that dumb idiot of a Stuart to save her face!

Jumping to her feet, she began to call Sharlene shocking names, mixed with fluent profanity. It made her feel immensely better. Indignation dried her tears. So, that was the kind of woman the exclusive Miss Standing was! Well, she could be a lot smarter, Julie would fight her, for her man! She had a better right to Stuart Pennington than Sharlene Standing had! She would have him back, or—

Julie rushed to the bathroom mirror and inspected her face. Then she set grimly to work to repair the havoc with ice and cold cream. Then she dressed herself carefully in the best she had. After some hesitation she added the fur coat which she might lose any day now because she was behind in her payments. It smothered her this warm day—but it was the only really swaggy thing in her wardrobe. With that, and her clanking bracelets, and the gentility of new gloves which she almost never wore, the temperamental Julie felt suitably equipped to go forth and do battle.

But first there was the grocery boy—he was at the back door with spaghetti and all that pertained thereto.

"Take 'em back," she said briefly. "But you ordered 'em."

"Can't help that. Take 'em back. My husband is—not at home."

"Your husband! I saw the paper this morning, girlie. I know whose husband Mr. Pennington is—"

"Get out!" she fairly screamed.

"Sure. But let me leave you a little souvenir, sweetie. He pressed a bit of garlic into her hand and ran off laughing. She threw it after him and stamped her foot and sputtered.

Mrs. Standing was just struggling awake from an exhausted nap, when her secretary ventured in apologetically.

"I don't want to disturb you, Mrs. Standing—I know you've just got to rest—but—"

"What is it?" wearily. "More reporters?"

"No, we're clear of them now. No, it's a woman who acts very mysterious and threatening."

"A woman?"
"Well, I should say a girl. She says her name is Julie Devore."
"I never heard of her. What does she want?"
"She declares she is Mr. Pennington's 'sweetie'—her own word, Mrs. Standing."
"Heavens!" Mrs. Standing sat up. "You don't suppose Stuart Pennington has any entangling alliances?" She paused, frowning. "I think perhaps you'd better see this person, Mrs. Standing. She sounds dangerous to me!"
"Mary, I can't bear it if he has another wife. . . . But no, Stuart wouldn't. I'll see her, but give me time for a shower."
"Shall I serve her tea?"
"No, we'll have no social amenities till I see what her game is. By the way, please ask Mr. Morrow to come up if he can. Try to get him at the studio. I feel unequal to facing dangerous women alone."

"Stuart can't marry her!" Julie went on. "It isn't fair—to me!"

Julie was left in the great drawing room to cool her heels in solitude for forty minutes after the secretary had told her Mrs. Standing would be down presently. The place rather subdued Julie in spite of her belligerent attitude. . . . It was like a handsome cinema set, she thought, and wondered what the bathrooms were like. Funny to live in a set all the time! The spacious gardens seen through the enormous windows, the birds twittering outside, the decorous hush upon everything inside. . . . it almost "got her goat," she admitted to herself nervously.

She jumped when she heard a pleasant, low voice behind her: "Miss Devore?"

Mrs. Standing had come in noiselessly on the thick Oriental carpet and stood regarding her visitor tranquilly, but without cordiality. "You wished to see me?"

"Yes!" Julie's sense of injury came sweeping back. These Standings with all their money and position, acting snooty even as they plucked Stuart Pennington—Julie's own prize—off the Christmas tree! They had their nerve!

"You are a friend of Mr. Pennington?" asked Mrs. Standing.

"More than a friend!" Julie burst out. "Much more!"

"Oh. Well, sit down. What did you wish to see me about?"

"This marriage—with your daughter—I won't have it!"

"What? But it's done—they're married!"

"Stuart can't marry her! It isn't right! It isn't fair—to me!"

"What claim have you on Mr. Pennington?"

"I—I'm engaged to him. . . . I live at his house."

(To Be Continued)

"MYSELF and ME"

"I'm the best pal I ever had;
We never have a fuss;
We like to sit and talk about
What's best for both of us."

Come to think of it, haven't we all dual selves? . . . One to acquire and one to bestow; one to work and one to play; one self to provide what the other self needs.

It isn't selfishness to think about yourself. It isn't arrogance to take pride in your appearance. It isn't egotism to strive to impress others. It's just good sense in the direction of self-progress—especially in business. . . .

So, tell You to give You more consideration. Spruce up! This is the season to buy new clothes. And the surest way to get the best styles and values is to "shop" through the advertisements in this newspaper—because:

The merchants and manufacturers who thus put their wares on exhibition and their prices in black-and-white cannot afford to risk their reputations by making extravagant claims for doubtful merchandise. Read and trust the advertisements. They'll help you find what you want—and save money!

TAILORED TOGS GAIN FAVOR

Suit Practical for Autumn Week-End Excursions; Fur Used for Trimming Adds Swagger Touch to Garment

Margaret Lindsay

By SUE BARDEN

International Illustrated News Writer

NEW YORK—Tailored togs always hold a place of the highest importance in the fall wardrobe. For those football games and trips to the country as well as a day's shopping around town this chic suit is smartly appropriate.

The suit modeled by Bette Davis, screen star, is made of a salt and pepper wool fabric. The skirt has fullness through double kick pleats in front and back. The cut-away jacket is the last word in new styles and it has large patch pockets and narrow revers. The fur scarf and cuffs are of flat black caracul. The scarf can be worn as shown in one picture, thrown over the shoulders and having the ends hang down the back, or as shown in the other picture, worn around the neck and held close to the figure by buckling the belt over it.

The hat is a bowler type of black felt. It is largely a matter of personal taste as to whether or not a veil is used on the hat. It is equally smart with or without.

The suit blouse is always a necessity—it can either be terribly smart and make the whole costume perk up, or it can be just another blouse without thrills or glamor.

The one in the picture is truly a little honey. It has that perky smart rich look that will even make last year's suit take a new lease on life. The color is that new Reseda green shade and the material a heavy crepe de chine. Rows of stitching garnish the high neckline and the front opening, as well as the faked pocket flaps.

A tie scarf of the same material makes a swell touch under the suit coat. Fabric covered buttons give the finishing rich and elegant touch that makes this blouse a thing of joy.

March on Ethiopia Begins—"Avanti!" Sounds in Eritrea

The start of a war is dramatically pictured in these first photographs of the invasion of Ethiopia. At the top Italian infantrymen in Eritrea are seen to hear the cannon booming across the frontier and into battle. Lower shows a company of machine-gunners hiking into the enemy country. These are the men who captured Adowa after a four-day battle.

and Mr. Earle to spend recklessly," Senator Buckman declared.

"The graduated income tax is now before the Supreme Court to decide its constitutionality and it is very doubtful whether it will pass. In all fairness I will say that if it is passed it will go to the relief of school taxes and the sugar coating on this bill is that it will lower about 50 per cent, they say, the present school taxes."

"Governor Earle has said that taxes should be paid by those most able to pay, but that has not been true, with the possible exception of the graduated income tax. Thank Heaven, the taxes are emergency taxes only and will be in operation but two years."

Senator Buckman declared, we need more active support of the women of Bucks county, as well as the men, to break up what he termed a cloud of "socialism and communism that is passing over the nation." Pennsylvania refused to follow the New Deal in September, adding, "let us see to it that all our neighbors and friends come out and vote the straight Republican ticket."

"Here in Bucks County," continued Senator Buckman, "we have close to 2,000 families on relief. I do not want to see anyone starve and they won't starve, but we do demand that the vast amount of money that are being spent are spent honestly and in an efficient manner."

Mrs. Humbert B. Powell, president of the Chester County Council of Republican Women, and member of the executive committee of the State Council, spoke on "How easy it is to spend money belonging to someone else."

"Neither Nero, Caesar or anyone else in the history of the world can beat Mr. Roosevelt as a spender," she declared.

"Mr. Roosevelt is the greatest spender of all time. He has always, all his life, spent other people's money and he cannot get out of that habit. Why the people were so charmed in America by his smile and golden voice, I cannot imagine. He left New York State practically bankrupt after serving as Governor and he is going strong at the present time. He has broken every pledge that he made. I might inform you that President Roosevelt has the highest paid staff of newspapermen and publicity men on his staff to promote the views and policies of the administration and you and I are paying the salaries."

"It will take centuries before the power from the government built dams can be used. If our Republican party had the publicity group in the United States that the Democrats have we could better acquaint the nation at large with the great fallacies of the administration."

"One of the few good things the Democrats accomplished was the bank holiday and that was stolen from the Republican party, and incidentally, there has been more unfairness shown to former president Herbert Hoover, than any one man in the United States. If you could see what is going on in Chester County, right now in the way of road building by unemployed Philadelphians, and I understand you have a gang in Bucks County, you would feel like rising up in arms the way the farmers did out west. It is enough to drive a person to fight when you take one look at such a thing. Go down and watch that gang working on your Bucks County roads and if you don't band together and have it stopped, or improve the working policies, there is something wrong with you," concluded Mrs. Powell. All of the county candidates for office were introduced at the afternoon session by Charles Roberts, Jr., Newtown, president of the Young Republican Association. Some of them responded with brief remarks.

Dr. H. Clayton Moyer, Blooming Glen, candidate for Coroner of Bucks County, was given a rising reception. Another speaker was C. Joseph Fallman, of Allentown, chairman of the Lehigh Republican County Committee.

Report Fierce Fighting

Reports reached London today of fierce fighting taking place at Adowa between the attacking Ethiopians and the defending Italians. The reports are without direct confirmation from the front because of censorship and the delay in getting dispatches back from the advanced lines.

Floyd Gibbons, International News staff reporter with the Italian forces at Adowa today finally got a dispatch through by courier to Asmara thence by wireless and cable to Rome and New York. One dispatch written by Gibbons on Tuesday reported the northern commander of the Ethiopians had concentrated a force near Adowa. Gibbons dispatch estimated this force at 2,000 but since Tuesday this may have been augmented by reinforcements.

Report Two Surrenders

Rome, Oct. 11—The surrender of two important Ethiopian leaders and their respective armies was claimed officially by the Italian government today in "Communique No. 17."

While all Italy discussed the League of Nations stand against Italy a statement was issued, stating Italy was doing well in the Ethiopian campaign. A communique giving the first official Italian casualties list for the entire campaign, listed 30 dead including 5 nationals and 25 natives; 70 wounded, including 20 nationals and 50 natives, and 33 missing.

The surrendering generals were Haile Salassie Gugsta, no relation to the Ethiopian Emperor and Kassa Araria, both of whom were claimed to have joined the Italian forces with their respective armies on the northern front yesterday.

A communique was received containing extensive denials of various foreign reports indicating the Italians were having a tough time of it and disclosed the general command will be transferred in the next few days from Eritrea into Ethiopian territory.

Premier Mussolini, in the face of the world front in opposition to his East African venture, mustered industrial and commodity resources of Italy to fight to the finish against sanctions to be applied against him.

with a lot of overdone things you'll be sorry for later.

With the new fall showings in Paris, we've started to see some extreme and not always becoming styles. So it will be interesting to see how the American woman will take up some of these foreign styles . . . which brings us right back to my oft-repeated platform that the American is the smartest-dressed woman in the world, and can't easily be fooled into doing something that's wrong from the angle of good taste.

Don't get me wrong, though. . . . Drapes in themselves are okay and charming. . . . Providing they keep to simplicity. Ask yourself, when trying on a dress you're in doubt about . . . "What should these drapes do for me?" Then look in the mirror, and you'll get your answer. . . .

If you're petite, don't go in for drapes starting at or below the knees; it takes your height away. . . . If your plump, select the drapes that tend to hide, rather than to reveal. . . .

Drapes on long, graceful lines will always be attractive. But above all, shun the drapes that your own conservative good sense tells you are overdone . . . theatrical . . . or sirenish. . . .

Funny . . . how the words "smart," "simplicity" and "conservative" always get me on the subject of Kay Francis, sooner or later . . . and a good thing, too, for one of her formal gowns for "I Found Stella Parrish" may give a new slant on the subject at hand. . . .

Roman in feeling it is, as a welcome change from the Grecian . . . there isn't a lot of difference between the two trends, but mostly it lies in the motif carried out, Kay's being a studied belt in a Roman frieze design, . . .

TO HOLD TIME TRIALS AT LANGHORNE TOMORROW

LANGHORNE, Oct. 11.—With the starting field in the 100-mile national championship two-man car automobile race to be held at the Langhorne Speedway here Sunday afternoon limited to 14 cars in keeping with A. A. A. regulations, time trials to reduce the number to the prescribed limit will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Twenty or more two-man cars, representing the fastest speed creations in the country, will bid for places in the starting field. And, at the same time, the machines, manned by the foremost drivers of the country and their expert mechanics, will be out to make the greatest speed in order to get the most advantageous position in the starting line-up.

The battle for the "pole" position is expected to evolve into a duel between Kelly Pettilo, Los Angeles Italian who won the Indianapolis 500-mile race, and the colorful Billy Winn, two of the smallest, yet most famous drivers in the racing game.

Pettilo, who will try to clinch the national championship in Sunday's big race, is to ride the same mount he drove to his record-smashing Indianapolis victory. This car holds the qualifying record for the treacherous 2½ mile Hoosier brick course and averaged a speed of better than 106 miles an hour for the full distance.

Winn will wheel the Miller Special, which since he acquired it only seven weeks ago, he has driven to two dazzling triumphs in championship races. In winning at Syracuse Winn after earning the pole proceeded to establish three world's speed marks.

The two outstanding headlines in the Langhorne field, Winn and Pettilo will nevertheless have to overcome a jinx to carry off top honors. Not once in the many times he has raced at Langhorne has Winn scored a victory. And Pettilo, in his last start, was forced out of the going with car trouble.

With prize money totaling $5,000, points towards the national championship, which has an estimated value of $20,000 and cash bonuses running up into the hundreds at stake, Winn, Pettilo and the other star drivers entered can be depended upon to push their giant, two-man cars to the utmost in both the qualifying tests and the big race.

THIRD GAME OF SERIES TO BE PLAYED TOMORROW

The third game of the Lower Bucks County Baseball championship series will take place tomorrow afternoon on the Edgely diamond. The fourth tilt, if necessary, will be played on the Hulmeville field, Sunday. In the event of rain, tomorrow, Sunday's tilt will be played at Edgely.

Hulmeville is leading the series by virtue of their two wins over the Braves, two weeks ago. Rain interfered with the game scheduled for last Sunday. The Braves were swamped by scores of 16-3, 10-4, in the frays played.

Howard Black will do the tossing for the first half champions with Jake Praul throwing them in for the Edgelyites. The remainder of the line-ups will be the same as the other series' games played.

The first ball will be pitched at 3:00 o'clock.

TULLYTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Paone, Jr., and daughter were visitors with friends in Philadelphia, Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Salarno and Louis Napoli spent Sunday visiting relatives in Edgely.

Mrs. Anna Galardi and Mrs. John Coutechneal have returned to their homes after spending several days with relatives in Ohio.

Mrs. Eris Wrigg, spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Foster Bates, Holmesburg.

Mrs. Michael Lynch and children, and John Wright spent Sunday visiting relatives and friends in Wallington, N. J.

Mrs. Jonathan Wright, Bristol, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Carrie Wright, Friday.

Mrs. Helen Johnson, Trenton, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Walters, Tuesday.

RECREATION ELEVEN PUT THROUGH PRACTICE

Last night at the practice grounds Coach "Gize" Dougherty put his Bristol Recreation team through a stiff two hour work-out.

Apparently satisfied with the offensive strength of the locals, Gize's chief concern was their defense. Using two complete teams, one full hour was devoted entirely to smothering interference and breaking up forward passes. When it was all over he seemed well pleased with the result.

Anxious to keep his high scoring backs in good trim, George will probably start them against the Hillers Sunday.

Joie Roe will call the plays, Hutchy will be at left half, George at right and Camel Breslin at full, while the line that did a splendid job last Sunday will again get the call.

ELKS DEFEAT LAUNDRY BOWLERS IN MATCH

Elks defeated the Safety Laundry bowling team of the American League, four points. Bill Wichser was the Elks' big gun, crashing the maples for a 581 total. Ed Ballinger was the Laundry's mainstay, rolling 793.

Madison won three points from the strong Taylor clan in the Federal League in a close fought match. W. Magill rolled 534 for Madison while Scratch Thomas turned in a 465 total for the Taylors.

BOOMING GUNS SOON TO BE HEARD IN FIELDS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—Booming guns soon will herald the opening of Pennsylvania's hunting season, and Warren Van Dyke, Secretary of Highways, calls attention to the great network of good roads which will serve sportsmen bound for their favorite haunts.

An abundance of game within the State will attract many resident hunters, and other thousands will travel from neighboring states to share the sport. Major highways—the Lincoln, the William Penn, the Roosevelt, and the Susquehanna—will carry the bulk of traffic, but it will remain for the country roads to offer final access to field and forest.

Rabbits will afford sport for the greatest number of hunters since they are found in nearly every section of the State. Virginia partridges—commonly called quail—and squirrels will be a close second. Deer and bear, the big game of the State, will offer excellent sport, too, but in more restricted areas.

Bear hunters will flock to Potter, Clinton and Lycoming counties, where this sport is at its best. Deer hunters, too, are showing a special preference for the north-central area this season, and capacity reservations are reported from the section. An open season has been declared on antlerless deer in these and eleven adjacent counties December 12, 13 and 14. Easy access to this region is offered via Route 44 north from Jersey Shore.

Other deer hunters will return to their favorite haunts in the mountains of Cumberland, Adams, and Franklin counties on the south tier. Sportsmen in this area, which boasts many gun clubs with permanent quarters, will find an improved road—with the exception of about three miles, immediately south of Pine Grove Furnace—from the William Penn Highway at Harrisburg to the Lincoln Highway at Caledonia Park. This road was placed in condition during the fall and winter and surfaced this summer.

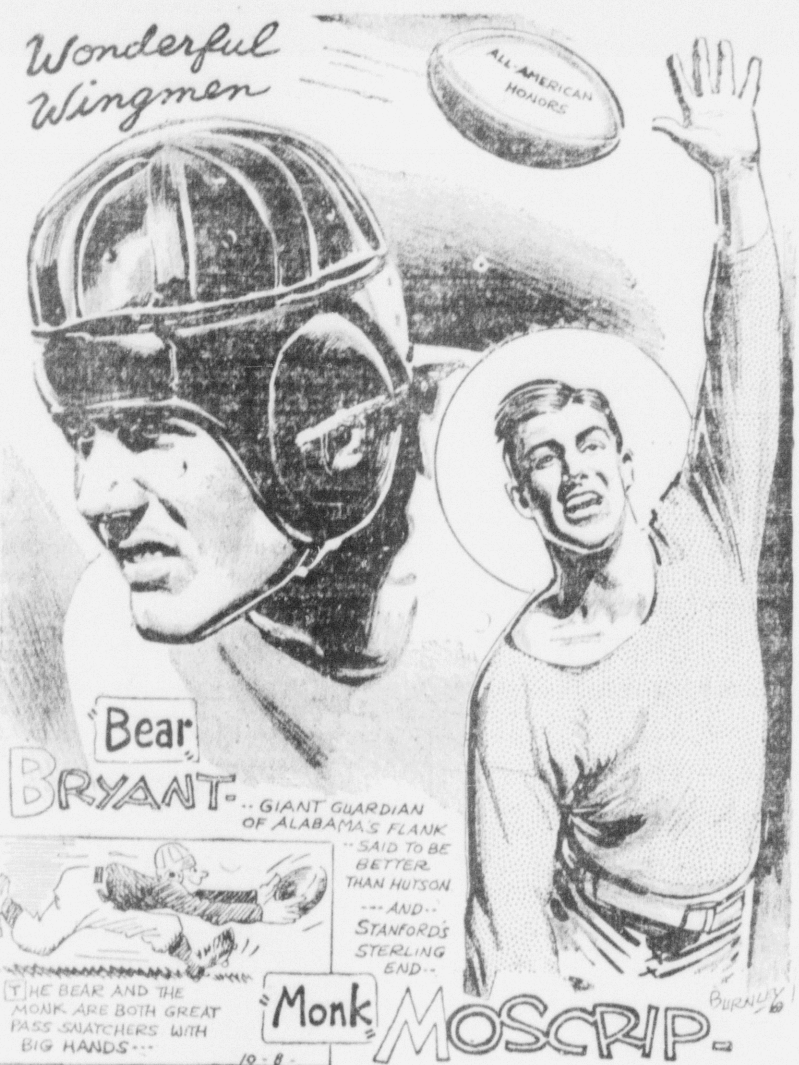

It may be reached from Harrisburg via Route 11 through Camp Hill; Route 641 to the west edge of Mechanicsburg; Route 174 to its junction with Route 34 near Mt. Holly Springs; Route 34 left to Hunters Run; then right via Pine Grove Furnace between the mountains. From the Lincoln Highway access is had by turning north at Caledonia Park.

Opening and closing dates—both inclusive, Sundays excepted—and bag limits by day and season on the more popular varieties of game in the State, follow:

Rabbits (Cottontail): Opening, Nov. 1; closing, Nov. 30; daily limit, 4; season limit, 24.

The Bear and the Monk

By BURNLEY

Last season's Rose Bowl contestants, Stanford and Alabama, boasted of a quartet of ends unsurpassed by any other wingmen in the land. Moscript and Topping, of Stanford, and Hutson and Bryant, of Alabama, were all ranked among the most brilliant flankmen of the year. This season three of the four have returned to action, only the pass-grabbing Don Hutson being lost via the graduation route.

The colorful Monk Moscript and the giant Bear Bryant are making serious bids for all-American recognition in their final season of collegiate competition. The Stanford Monk and Alabama's Bear are somewhat similar in their styles of play, both being brilliant offensive chargers and excellent forward pass receivers.

Moscript's pass-grabbing genius is well known in Coast grid circles, and his importance in Tiny Thornhill's attack cannot be stressed too much. The Monk is also a very hard man to fool on defense, and not many runners are going to turn his end this season.

Bryant, a magnificently built fellow, standing six feet two and displacing 205 pounds on the scales, was definitely superior to the all-American Hutson last year in every department of play save that of pass-snatching, and even in that specialty the Bear was very little inferior to his illustrious running mate.

Bryant's height and his large hands make him an ideal pass-snagger, like the equally well-equipped Moscript. The great guardian of the Crimson Tide's flank is only 20 years old, though already a senior. He is not quite so fast as Hutson was, but his mastodontic bulk makes him particularly valuable in offensive charging and blocking.

If Moscript and Bryant live up to their past performances, it will be hard to keep them from gaining national recognition at the close of the present grid campaign. They are just about tops among the nation's end men.
